Are You Up for the City Nature Challenge?

This is the weekend the world comes together to track biodiversity! The 2021 City Nature Challenge event runs Friday April 30 through Monday May 3. More than 400 cities around the world including 23 across Canada are participating in the event, and you can too! All you need is to open your free iNaturalist account. Log onto the 2021 Canada City Nature Challenge project. Here you'll find all the Canadian cities hosting a CNC event. Join your local project and start snapping pictures and recording sounds. Upload them into iNaturalist via your mobile device (make sure you join the Canadian network in your settings!) or computer at iNaturalist.ca and they're automatically added to help contribute to the total observations Canadians make during the event. Not living in a participating city? Anyone can contribute right up to May 9 by identifying what's been found using this page.
